MARION, KENTUCKY.

A BANNER MONTH WITH THE KENTUCKY COMPANY

Business Still Active--Some Pertinent Remarks About Mines and Mining.

C. H. Whitehouse, of the Louisville & Marion mining company, was in the city Monday and went to the company's mines.

The Kentucky Fluor Spar Co. are proud of their shipments for August, which will probably equal any month they have had since they went into business save one, or possibly two.

We learn that some of our mining men have made some large purchases of fluor spar in Illinois recently; one buyer took 2,500 tons in one place.

From the reports in the Marion papers in regard to the mineral business, we would believe they had a good amount of gas, also.

No, brother; gas and coal are usually found together; Union county must surely have the gas.

The Louisville & Marion Mining company have rented office room in the new Blue & Gugenheim building and equipped it with handsome furniture; linoleum floor covering, desks, etc. One of the partners will move here from Louisville and take charge of the office.

The developments so far made on the Marion Beard property are only surface scrapings and a little cross-cutting, but some of the finest grinding spar in the world has been found. C. J. Haury, Sr. has some samples which he proudly displays, and which some of his friends say should be in the mineral exhibit at St. Louis. They are beauties.

The Kewanee, Ill., factory will start again to take our fire clay this week. Some 10 or 12 wagons have begun hauling. Now that crops are laid by, the roads good, and the weather cool, we predict a rush of teamsters to do this work; but Supt. P. H. Bush will keep them busy. He will have full charge of all the business here.

Marion is growing beyond the most sanguine hopes of its proudest citizen. Lon Johnson, the genial and popular ticket agent, has sold for the month of August ($1,000) one thousand dollars worth of passenger tickets per day, which is the station's best month. If this month's record is beaten much Marion will soon take in a million dollars for passengers and freight each year.

Attorneys Bagby & Martin have filed in circuit court a suit for the Globe Bank and Trust Co., trustee, against the Seacoast Mineral company to foreclose a mortgage for $14,000 secured by interest bonds. The suit is filed as a matter of security to the bondholders and the attorneys are not instructed to push the sale of the property.

The bondholders who want to make themselves more secure are W. B. Smith, D. D. Murrell, A. J. Bauer, E. B. Harbour, Dr. R. M. Jones, E. P. Gilson, Nagel & Myers, W. G. Dycus, S. Felz, W. B. Kennedy, C. M. Martin, George C. Wallace and Herman Friedman. There are others also who will come in the suit.

The entire amount of bonds held by the above is $14,000, but this is only a small part of the bonded indebtedness of the company. The suit will have no effect on the operations of the plant.

Our New Salem correspondent writes:

The whistle of the Riley mines is now added to that of the Nancy Hanks, every morning, noon and 5:30 p. m. We are listening every day for the whistle of the Culen mines.

What does it mean? We have it from a reliable source that the agents of one Mr. Temmie, of Tolu, have taken options on two-thirds of the farms around Levis the past week. Is it the mining interest, or are we to have a new people among us? This question is being asked but not answered.

We understand that some parties in Illinois have agents in our section wanting one thousand acres in one body; that is, they want an option on that amount of land.

Our people greatly miss the clay hauling this fall. Last summer and fall our people made hundreds of dollars hauling from these mines.

After an idleness of several months the separating plant of the Seacoast Mining company is again in operation and is working very successfully.

A carload of ore was received Monday, and the lead, zinc and fluor spar is being separated from it. Manager L. C. Garrett anticipates no further obstacles, and proposes to run as long as he can get ore, of which there is an abundance in Livingston and Crittenden counties. It is shipped here by river, and as the coast distance is short, the cost of transportation is small.

Financial affairs and litigation have kept the plant closed down ever since it was built, but it is believed these matters have been overcome.

Manager Garrett claims this is the only separating plant of the kind in the country. Most of the machinery is his own patent. If it proves the success he believes it will, the result will be that factories for working up lead, zinc, and fluor spar, will be located here or in this immediate section. News-Democrat.

The great Southwest is the graveyard of ill-advised mining enterprises, and its monumental failures are represented by costly mills, car loads of mining machinery, depopulated mining camps, abandoned and falling into ruins, on the parts of the owners of legitimate mining methods. And who was at fault? Not Arizona, certainly. Not her prospectors, but the blame must be equally divided between the so-called mining expert on the one hand, and the gullible and guileless investor on the other. The Arizona prospector, like all other prospectors, in every other country and clime, is entitled to the highest meed of praise for his perseverance, pluck and energy. Whether right or wrong he is at all times enthusiastic in his calling and occupation, and he can not be blamed if, after finding a buff quartz vein, slightly mineralized, or some old gulch filled with mud, stained with copper carbonate or iron oxide, that he hurries off to town and gives bond to some enterprising mining promoter; neither can that very necessary individual, the mining promoter, be censured for presenting it to investors in its most attractive light, for that is his business, a medium of exchange, a connecting link, as it were, between the unknown prospector and the men who want the mines. But when we arrive at this stage of a mining deal we find the source and cause of it all, or almost all of the failures of mining in the Southwest. The gullible public and a society mining engineer on one side and fraudulent mining experts on the other. Can the investors in mines and stocks never understand that although a man might be a regularly graduated mining engineer from some great colleges at Golden, Colorado; Columbia, New York, or Freiberg, Germany, that a diploma is not the only essential requisite for competency, in examining a mine. The assumption has prevailed that one of these individuals carries around in his head a universal knowledge of mines and ore treatment which his diploma guarantees. But without years of experience in the field and amongst the mines, the inexperienced mining engineer is, next to the fraudulent mining expert, the most dangerous man in the world to report on a mine. He has not yet learned that text books and nature do not always conform; he does not understand the appearance of rocks in a metamorphic condition and like a college instructor of geology, once that he gets into the field, he is in a vast sea of contorted, dislocated and metamorphic strata, which to him is a hopeless complicated puzzle. But the trained field man seldom, if ever, loses a sure and safe horizon to start from, and by the time that he reaches the collar of a shaft or the mouth of a tunnel, the diagnosis of the mine is generally half completed. The so-called "mining expert" is a fraud, too contemptible to discuss. He is usually a person who, having failed in everything else has turned to his volubility into convincing unwary people that he knows a great deal about mines and mining. When, if he was put to an examination, he could neither tell the chemical constituency or crystallization of a single mineral, much less rock, or series of rocks. A great many of these species of "experts" have learned to make a few simple assay tests and unbounded gall constitutes the balance of their knowledge. When it is remembered that thousands of poor people, or even people in comparatively easy circumstances, have been reduced to abject poverty by the misrepresentations of these irresponsible schemers, it would seem that the laws are very lax and justice had gone astray. The regularly graduated mining engineer, if graduated from a thorough mining school, should be treated with professional respect and consideration, as his technical education is the best seed that could be sown in good ground, and if carefully nurtured and cultivated by the hand of experience, the student, if he applies himself diligently, gradually develops into a valuable man.

But we are living in an age of specialization, and that it will be but a few years that the present old time mining engineers will have become obsolete and in his stead we will have specialized chemists, metallurgists, engineers, generalized geologists and mining geologists, educated men who have specialized and become thoroughly proficient in one of the numerous branches pertaining to mining and ore treatment. The element of chance should be largely eliminated from legitimate mining by placing the examiners of mines under a heavy assurance bond to guarantee the accuracy of their reports to intended investors. This could be accomplished by a legislative act, and such law would effectually settle all "wildcat" schemes, effectually protect the public from fraud and make the mine examiner legally responsible for his report on the property. The enactment of such a law by the legislature would also relieve the genuine mining engineer from an unpleasant and embarrassing position, that of assuming that he is a geologist, because really by education and training the engineer is a constructor and designer and in no sense of the term a geologist.

The science of mineral geology can only be acquired by years of constant and incessant study of rocks, in actual contact with nature in the field, a familiarization with ore occurrences, the cause and effects of earth movements, which results in mineral deposition, a good idea of which can be taught in colleges, but which applied practically in diagnosing a mine is very bewildering to a novice.

The writer does not regard it as any discredit to a mining engineer or a college instructor in geology if they fail in diagnosing a mine or district properly. They are to be censured only for overstepping the bounds of their profession, and encroaching on another domain that they know nothing about. Mining geology is a specialized branch of general geology and if the practical application of that science does not come intuitively, technically educated engineers should not bring discredit on their honorable profession by conveying the impression that they understand it.

The easiest thing on earth to do is to detect the ignorance of the so-called "mining expert," or the inexperienced mining engineer by his actions in the field. Unless he arrives at a very sensible conclusion by the time he steps onto the mine, and is ready to explain its lithological and geological condition and character, his opinions are valueless and he can neither show you anything or be of the slightest benefit from a mining standpoint. No genuine mining geologist or experienced engineer ever contemplates the underground workings of a mine until he has come to a satisfactory conclusion from a careful surface diagnosis as to why that mine is there. And after entering the mine and seeing the vein the first thing to be determined is its degree of permanency; secondly, the width and length and extent of its ancient water course, and last of all the mineralization and value. While these three conditions might, to the uninformed or inexperienced person appear to be matters of great simplicity, permit the writer to suggest that with out years and years of careful training in the mines and in the field work of geology, that it is an impossibility for the untrained engineer to accomplish or comply with the two first conditions imposed. And, of course, the fraudulent mining engineer is not to be considered, when legitimate mining is proposed. Mining Record.

When you see a crowd of men headed for an alley these days, don't be misled. They are not going there to fight nor to talk politics. Somebody has stood the grocer off for a watermelon.—Le der.

Judge J. M. Fisher, the county judge of Marshall county is lying critically ill at his home in Benton, from the effects of a light paralytic stroke received Sunday. He was sitting in his office transacting business when he was suddenly stricken blind. He was partially unconscious and without use of his vision for several hours. He finally rallied somewhat, but is still in a very critical condition.

Last week Leslie King and Tom Woods, aged 16 and 20 years were found ground to pieces on the L. and N. track a mile south of Henderson. They were from Sebree and had been to St. Louis. It is supposed they were killed while stealing a ride on a freight train.

A Southern freight train crashed into a C. N. O. and T. P. switch at Burgin, demolishing the switch engine, a caboose and several cars of pig iron and lumber. Engineer J. E. Cain, on the Southern train, jumped among some flying timbers, sustaining several slight injuries, consisting of a crushed hand and several cuts and bruises.

Last week a mad dog attacked and bit Minnie Grimes, a 16 year old girl, near Maysville. It then attacked James Soyster who stood it off, procured a gun and killed it.

The jury commissioners of Jefferson county turned down criminal judge Pryor's request to put the names of negroes in the jury wheel and make selections from the tax assessors' books, which do not designate whether the real estate owner is white or colored.

In an attempt to shoot the rapids of the Merimec river in a canoe with her husband and one of his friends, Mrs. Harry R. Wright of St. Louis, lost her life by the overturning of the canoe. The body has not been recovered.

Charles E. Bruce, aged twenty-four, of New Castle, Henry county, Ky., shot and almost instantly killed Wm. J. Powell, a switchman on the Louisville and Nashville railroad this afternoon in Covington. Bruce immediately gave himself up. According to Bruce's account Powell met him in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. and accused him of having assaulted his daughter. Bruce denied the charge, he says, and proposed to accompany Powell to his home and confront the young woman. Bruce says Powell agreed to this, but before they had gone far Powell drew a knife from his pocket and attacked him, whereupon Bruce drew his revolver and shot Powell four times, all the shot taking effect.

A BRAVE DEED.

Louisville Times: "Oh, I never thought of my own life, it was such a sweet baby," is the reason given by Miss Edna Smith, a telephone operator at J. Bacon & Sons, for her bravery in saving the life of Dudley Smith, a two-year-old boy whose life was threatened by a street car at Frankfort and Stoll avenues last night. Miss Smith's bravery in risking her own life to save the child from certain death was witnessed by a crowd that cheered her act, but she demurely declined to give her name at that time and took no credit for her bravery.

She was standing at Frankfort and Stoll avenue early yesterday evening when Dudley Smith, the parents of whom live on Smyser avenue, near Frankfort avenue, was playing in the street with other children. A west bound Market street car turned the corner suddenly and the child, bewildered by the approach of the car, was unable to move. Miss Smith realized its peril, and, with a rush, caught up the little one in her arms and carried it from the track as the car whirled by.

Her skirts were struck by the fender, so close was she to the car. She then gave the child to its young companions to be taken home. The little one, never realizing its danger, laughed as it was borne hurriedly from peril and did not want to be put down by its brave preserver.

"I just held the babe in my arms a minute and gave it to some small boys and told them to take it home and keep it there. I had not realized my own peril until then," she continued, "but then it is nothing more than any one should have done for such a pretty baby in danger."

Emergency Medicines.

It is a great convenience to have at hand reliable remedies for use in cases of accident and for slight injuries and ailments. A good liniment and one that is fast becoming a favorite if not a household necessity is Chamberlain's Pain Balm. By applying it promptly to a cut, bruise or burn it allays the pain and causes the injury to heal in about one-third the time usually required, and as it is an antiseptic it prevents any danger of blood poisoning. When Pain Balm is kept at hand a sprain may be treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a quick recovery. For sale by Woods & Orme, Druggists.

ON THE RETIRED LIST.

Washington, Aug. 24.—Rear Admiral John Crittenden Watson today was placed on the retired list of the navy, having reached the age of sixty-two years. He entered the service in September, 1856, served during the Civil War and the war with Spain, was placed in command of the Eastern Squadron, which was fitted out for a cruise across the Atlantic to bombard the coast towns of Spain but which did not call, owing to the fact that the war closed. He was appointed from Kentucky, of which State he is a native. He was born in Frankfort, is a son of Dr. Watson, and a grandson of John J. Crittenden. At present Rear Admiral Watson is traveling in Europe for pleasure, and incidentally is inquiring into the methods of moral training for the men in foreign service. He will make an exhaustive report upon the subject to the Secretary of the Navy when he returns to this country.

SENSATIONAL TRAGEDY.

Covington, Ky., Aug. 26.—Jno. C. Landsdowne, aged twenty-eight years, of this city, was stabbed above the heart early this morning within a few yards of home 210 Gerard avenue. He died fifteen minutes later in the arms of his brother, Wallace Landsdowne, after telling his brother that his slayer, John Lieberth, had intended to kill Wallace and had mistaken him for Wallace. Lieberth is now locked up in the Covington jail, apparently in a stupor and refusing to make any statement, even to the extent of telling the police his name.

The families of the victim and accused murderer are prominent in Northern Kentucky, and the cause of the deed, the family of the dead man say, is due to enmity, because Landsdowne had preferred political charges against one of the Lieberths.

John Clarke Landsdowne was a son of Mrs. Henry Landsdowne, former Librarian of the Covington public library, and brother of Wallace Landsdowne, a U. S. gauger, who last February preferred charges against his superior in office, George Lieberth, Collector of internal Revenue of the Covington district, and the leader of the Republican party, in the Sixth congressional district.

John Lieberth, accused of the murder, is a brother of Geo. Lieberth, and it is claimed he has been demented for several months.

CONGRESSMAN DEAD

Judge Lawrence S. Trimble, formerly of this county, died at his home near Albuquerque, New Mexico, Aug. 9. He had been in ill health for some time, but dysentery was the immediate cause of his death. He was 80 years of age, lacking one month, and one of the pioneers of the city near which he passed away. Judge Trimble was born in Eastern Kentucky and moved to Paducah when at the age of thirty years. By his shrewdness and industry he soon amassed a fortune and was estimated at one time to be worth $100,000. He was never married and lived with his mother and niece at the home that now stands in Arcadia.

He was prominent in politics and represented the first district in congress two terms. During the war he was a union man but always held to the democratic faith. After serving two successive terms in congress he declined to stand for re-election, but after two years had elapsed he made the third race, but was defeated by the Hon. Oscar Turner. Judge Trimble, during the time he was out of congress, had invested in railroads and other business until he had about lost all his fortune. He became discouraged with this country and one day while taking his usual ride around his farm and about the vicinity went out the Clinton road and nothing was heard of him until a letter was received from him by his brother, A. A. Trimble, who also lived in Arcadia, stating that he had located in Albuquerque. His brother followed a few years later and still resides there. He was held in the highest esteem by his fellow colleagues in New Mexico as is shown by the Daily Citizen, a newspaper of that city, which says that "In every public enterprise he was always at the front and his friendly counsel will be missed by the people of Albuquerque."—Paducah Register.

From 148 to 92 Pounds.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I ran down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." Sold by Woods & Orme.

A BRAVE GIRL.

Miss Blanche Buckner, a daughter of the late J. M. Buckner, figured as the heroine of a romantic incident Thursday, in saving midshipman Lawton, of the United States man-of-war Hartford, from drowning.

With her mother and a friend, Miss Buckner was in a launch bound for the vessel, which lay just outside of Boston, when suddenly midshipman Lawton, who was on the mizzen yard, slipped and fell over the side.

Quick as a flash the brave girl dived after him, and, as the officer had been stunned by the fall, it is due entirely to her prompt action that he did not lose his life. After the rescue Miss Buckner was cheered to the echo by the officers and the entire crew of the Hartford.

Senator David B. Hill opened the Democratic campaign in Broome county, New York, on the 25th ult. In his speech he touched on the tariff laws saying he believed an honest revision of the present tariff laws would largely benefit the country. He said the currency question was definitely settled on a gold basis for the present and that the Democratic party, which established the present system of currency, can safely be trusted, when the occasion should arise, to make such changes for the best interests of the people. He said about the only difference between the two great political parties is, that the Republican party stands for private purposes and the Democratic party for public purposes.

The speaker was particularly severe upon President Roosevelt, denouncing him as "a fraud." "At the time he took his office in Buffalo," said Mr. Hill, "after the assassination of President McKinley, he declared in public he would simply fill McKinley's place, that he would not look for re-nomination. Later, on the same train with McKinley's dead body, he gave out a statement to the press to the effect that he thought he had been misunderstood by the public, which meant, practically, he was a candidate for re-nomination. The Republicans had him on their hands and could do nothing but re-nominate him."

A few days ago the Louisville Times published a private circular which is being mailed to every Federal office holder in Kentucky. This circular is in the nature of a "stand and deliver" order to every Government employee to chip in anywhere from 10 to 25 per cent. of his salary for "campaign purposes." The money to be sent direct to George F. Cortelyou, Chairman of the Republican National Committee. Now, of course this is a direct violation of the law and in contravention to the positive commands of the Civil Service Commission. But law and Civil Service are a mere bagatelle with Republican leaders. They want the cold cash—and they want it bad.

In last week's paper was an article clipped from one of our exchanges which was headed, "Amid the Flames Two Negro Fiends Meet their Just Reward." The editor of the Press does not assume responsibility for that article nor does he approve of burning at the stake under any circumstances, nor of mob law under any circumstances. In the case referred to the mob wilfully violated the law after the court had passed the sentence of death. There is no excuse for this. When the "law takes its course" and justice is to be avenged by the death penalty, all good and law-abiding citizens should cheerfully submit and say, "So mote it be," and any set of citizens who band themselves together and take the law into their own hands should be dealt with severely. We are all interested in maintaining the dignity of law and of the community, and under no case should we sanction a mob.

Tuesday and Wednesday half a million of men, Japanese and Russians, are battling in front of Liao Yang, Manchuria. Gen. Kuropatkin has the advantage in position and the Japanese in numbers. As this may prove the decisive battle of the campaign intense interest is manifested in its progress. The very latest reports, however, state that the Russians are trying to break away and are falling back on Mukden.

Tuesday being the Mikado's birthday was chosen by the Japanese for a general assault on the citadel at Port Arthur. The assault was made and repulsed with heavy loss on both sides.

The Republican muddle in the Eleventh district bids fair to rebound to the benefit of the Democrats. The Republicans themselves admit that in the present condition of affairs, with Judge Black or some other strong man in the field, the Democrats will gain a Congressman in the Eleventh.

Senator Joe Blackburn and Lieut. Governor W. P. Thorne opened the campaign in Jefferson county Aug 25th, at the Jefferson county fair grounds. A large and enthusiastic crowd was in attendance, and the speeches and speakers were cheered to the echo.

Just now Kentucky Federal office holders are "between the devil and the deep blue sea," as it were. The Civil Service Commission tells them they will be discharged if they contribute to the campaign fund and the party bosses tell them they will be discharged if they don't, so—there you are!

Hon. George E. Stone, of Palatine county, has been nominated as the Democratic candidate for Congress in the Eleventh Kentucky district, and it is confidently predicted he will carry the district by not less than eight hundred majority.

OHIO RIVER ASSOCIATION.

The twenty-second annual session of this body was held with Deer Creek church Aug 24-26 and proved one of its most interesting sessions.

The introductory sermon was preached by Elder M. E. Miller, from the text, "We walk by faith and not by sight; 2 Cor. 5, 7. Bro Miller was at his best, and the sermon was felt throughout the meeting.

The officers were reelected; Elds W R Gibbs moderator and R A LaRue clerk. The Association lost no time in organizing and proceeded at once to hearing and discussing the report on missions. About one day was spent on this work alone. The report shows a slight decline in the contribution to missions and benevolences, but for home purposes a large increase. There were 251 baptisms last year making a total membership of 3610. One new church, Ohio Valley, was received, making 37 in all.

Visiting brethren added greatly to the interest of the meeting, among whom we mention Eld D M Green, the veteran minister of Calvert City. Bro Green is always welcomed, especially by the elder ones, who have known him and loved him so long for his works sake. He is nearing his 90th milestone and yet maintains the vigor and zeal of youth. Eld J M Wise, of Owensboro college Prof W H Harrison, of Bethel college, Russellville, and W S Coakley, of Georgetown college.

Eld H C McGill was there in the interest of the Western Recorder, H E Elliston for the Baptist Argus, T E Richey for the Baptist Flag and J S Miller for the Foreign Mission Journal. The great day of the feast proved to be Friday, when Orphans' Home and Ministers' Aid were being considered. A hand shaking and collection could not be resisted. About $60 was raised and a spiritual feast enjoyed by all present.

Deer Creek church and vicinity are royal hosts and gracefully met every demand of their many guests. Blooming Grove church, Livingston county, was elected as the place of next meeting and Elder J S Henry to preach the introductory sermon, Eld M E Miller was elected messenger to the Southern Baptist Convention at Kansas City, Mo. R A L.

He says that he is still a Republican, but that the best interests of the country demand the defeat of President Roosevelt this fall.

MRS. ZED A. BENNETT DEAD.

Many were the moist eyes, and tremulous voices in Marion Tuesday afternoon when it became known that Melville Glenn, wife of Supt. Z. A. Bennett of Smithland was dead. Marion was not prepared for the shock as her death was altogether unexpected and indeed very few people except her immediate friends knew of her illness. She died at 1 o'clock at her home in Smithland after an attack of typhoid-malarial fever. Mrs. Bennett was only 21 years old and it was only two short years ago she was led to the altar to become a bride. She was a young woman of attractive personality and charm of manner and was much beloved in this city where she grew to womanhood.

The funeral was held at New Bethel (Lyon Co.) church, at 1 o'clock Wednesday and was conducted by Eld. Miller, of Paducah. Mrs. Bennett was a member of the Baptist church and when a resident here took a deep interest in the church affairs and was organist of the Baptist church here and a leader in all musical and religious matters. Her mother and husband have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

HURRICANE CAMPMETING

The annual campmeeting at Hurricane began Friday for a ten days' engagement and has been so far one of the most successful meetings, both as to numbers in attendance and general interest, since its organization fourteen years ago. All the camps are full, a number of tents have been erected outside the enclosure and covered wagons and other vehicles are utilized, better accommodations being impossible. The hotel accommodations are good and every person can get plenty to eat.

Sunday a very large crowd was in attendance and good order prevailed around the tabernacle and elsewhere. Miss Bertie Crowe preached at 11 o'clock, Miss Anderson in the afternoon and Rev. J. J. Smith at night. Each of these sermons impressed the hearers wonderfully and at the after services there were a number of conversions.

Aside from a spiritual or religious point of view, these annual gatherings afford a social opportunity that is very enjoyable to many who attend. Here many meet who have not seen each other for years, talk over the events of their past lives and renew the friendships of other years. Here young people meet, form new acquaintances and new friendships and, having susceptible hearts, tenderer ties are often avowed and everlasting fidelity promised, all of which are soon forgotten when the campmeeting is over and Phillip and Jennette have returned to their respective homes to resume their every day lives, and await the next campmeeting.

MARRIAGE.

Mrs. Jennie Dorr, of Marion, Ky., and Mr. C. A. Love, of Halls, Tenn., were married here this afternoon by Rev. G. W. Perryman, at his study, at the First Baptist church, at Fifth and Jefferson streets. The couple met here by appointment and will leave tonight for Halls, where they will reside.—Paducah News Monday Aug. 29th 1894.

The bride is well-known here and much beloved by many friends. She is the daughter of Thos. M. George, one of Livingston county's wealthiest and representative citizens and is the widow of Spencer Dorr who was killed by an electric shock in St. Louis two years ago this month. She is a refined and elegant woman and her friends here wish her much joy in her married life. The groom is a substantial citizen of his section and owns a plantation and carries on farming on a large scale. Mrs. Dorr was here recently to visit her relatives and friends, and left only last week for St. Louis to purchase her millinery stock in company with Mrs. Birdie Elder. On their return from St. Louis Mr. Love met them in Paducah and they were married.

CYCLONES.

Some interesting facts about cyclones they occur during every month of year; they are due to atmospheric conditions possible and probable everywhere; no precautions can prevent and no safe guards protect against this force, and the only sure way to avoid personal loss is to take out cyclone and tornado insurance in a reliable company, rates surprisingly low, protection undeniably absolute. Little Folks' Corner.

For Children Under 12.

When our little Ethel went to Boston to visit her Aunt Belinda she became deeply interested in her aunt's Sunday school. When she returned to New York before taking off her hat, she exclaimed enthusiastically:

"Oh, mamma, you ought to go to Aunt Belinda's Sunday school!"

It was just splendid! Last Sunday the lesson was awful interesting. It was all about Moses and he was just the nicest man! He loved all the little children and one day he led all the little children of Israel out of the desert into the Promised Land, only Moses himself, he didn't get into the Promised Land, but he went up on the top of a high mountain, and just looked over in, and then he died—and there didn't anybody know where Moses is buried, or where he went to, but God and Aunt Belinda, and she won't tell!—Chicago Record-Herald.

HE GOT HIS WIFE.

She was a dear little girl. Her mother had taken her into a toy store to buy a doll, and he young mind had fluctuated long between the fascinating boy dolls and the charming girl dolls there displayed. She looked longingly from one to the other. At last she fixed on a boy. Then holding him up for her mother to inspect, "Mamma," she said gravely, "he needs a wife." Needless to say, she got the girl doll too.

YOUTH KILLED AT CERULEAN.

Willie Dudley, the eighteen-year-old son of Hamilton Dudley, of Princeton, was struck by a train at Cerulean Springs Tuesday morning and so severely injured that death resulted. The boy attempted to jump on the train but missed his footing and fell, the car striking him on the head, tearing off one of his ears. He was thrown several feet and it is thought injuries sustained in this manner caused his death. He lived only a few hours after the accident occurred.

Last Week's Puzzle:—What month is the grandest—August.

First correct answer was from Dixie and Mildred Trisler.

This Week's Question:—What is the longest question in the bible.

Behind the chair there lurks a brave—
But that is not a chair;
It is the entrance to a cave,
And he is watching there.
He waits, the cunning, wily foe,
And sings a war song deep
While craftily he crouches low—
Bold little Laugh-a-Heap.

A feather duster on his head—
His! Would you meet your doom?
The feathers bound with strands of red
Are Laugh-a-Heap's war plume.
The wooden dagger in his hand—
Ah, no. A gleaming knife
With which he means to make his stand
And leap into the strife.

And yonder is a hobby horse—
A hobby horse, indeed!
You should be burdened with remorse
Not to have known that steed,
It is the faithful thoroughbred

On which our chieftain rides.
Observe the proudness of its head
And note its well-groomed sides.

"Why, here's a boy upon the floor—
Hush! Wearied with the fight
The warrior could strive no more
And so rests for the night
The smiles still linger around his eyes
And laugh dreams fill his sleep;
For weary, battle worn, he lies,
Brave little Laugh-a-Heap."—K. D. N., in Chicago Daily Tribune.

THE BADDEST BOY.

It's hard to always just obey,
And if you tear your clo's
To hear your angry parents say:
"That's how the money goes."
It seems as though I'm all the time
Provokin' ma or pa.
And every day they tell me I'm
The baddest boy they ever saw.

I'm sorry when I've run away—
But boys don't think, you know,
About the things their folks'll say
Before they start to go.
I wonder, when I die some time,
And leave my pa and ma,
If God'll sadly tell me I'm
The baddest boy He ever saw?

COULDN'T GO NAKED.

Manager Flaherty, of the Majestic Theater, engaged a stage hand the other day who had just arrived from "ould country." He came direct to the stage entrance from the wharf, with his belongings in a big, glossy valise. Mr. Flaherty, happening to be there at the time, greeted the new comer and asked him where he had left his trunk.
"A thrunk? Un'phwat ud Oi do wid 'un, sor?"
"Why, put your cloths in it."
"An' me go naked, sor?"—[New Commercial Advertiser.

WRITE TO MOTHER

If you have a gray-haired mother
In the old home far away,
Sit down and write the letter
You put off day by day.

Don't wait until her tired steps
Reach heaven's pearly gate,
But show her that you think of her
Before it is too late.

If you've a tender message,
Or a loving word to say,
Don't wait till you forget it,
But whisper it today.

Who knows what bitter memories
May haunt you if you wait?
So make your loved ones happy
Before it is too late.

We live but in the present,
The future is unknown,
Tomorrow is a mystery,
Today is all our own.

The chance that fortune lends us
May vanish while we wait,
So spend your life's rich treasure
Before it is too late.

The tender words unspoken,
The letters never sent,
The long forgotten messages,
The wealth of love unspent.

For these some hearts are breaking,
For these some loved ones wait,
So show them that you care for them
Before it is too late.

BRING THE NEWS.

What the editor wants is the news, and we are going to get it too, and we want your help in the matter. If your wife knocks you down with a poker, let us know, and we will make it right with the public. If you have a social gathering tell us, if you are not ashamed of your friends. If a youngster is left by the stark at your house, begging raiment buy a box of cigars and come around, and we will find a suitable name for him or her, as the circumstances will suggest. If you have a party of friends invited bring around a big cake, seven or eight pies and a big ham—not necessarily to eat, but as a guarantee of good faith. You can do a good deal for us in this way, and by so doing make the paper even better than it is.—Equality Olio.

MARY.
Miss Ida Adams,
who died July 23,
was born in the beautiful Chapel Hill, surrounded by a mound of floral tributes placed there by loving friends. Now rest all that is mortal of a beloved one.
More will her kind face appear upon us; no more will her smile in kindly words; no more will her warm grasp thrill the hand she admired, loved and led by; many an eye now filled with tears, and many a heart feels a bitter pang over the lost one. While yet in the prime of glorious womanhood she so much to live for, of the noble girl, the crowning mirror of her works.
She was not only large in stature, but in character, large hearted, of a cheerful mind; her life was always most agreeable,
her friendship was valuable.
It has been said that "Death loves a good mark," and this was certainly demonstrated in the sudden loss of dear Ida.
We want the bleeding hearts of relatives and her aged parents and brothers, we want out the pain of conscience and remind them of the life in the beautiful, Divine Ida. "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God."
A few weeks ago the picture of Ida, now to pay the last tribute to her memory and take the last look at the tomb and say farewell to the last trump shall sound;
these things are so sad and sudden, still would it be if there was no hope of immortality beyond;
at parents and friends have a hope that cheers and comforts their hearts in this hour of gloom and sadness. It is hard to give up one we love, but God be thanked we do not sorrow as those who have no hope.
May heaven's richest blessings rest upon the sorrowing parents, brothers, and relatives and friends. Weep not,
dear ones, for in heaven your darling Ida is an angel now.
Miss Ida Adams was born May 29th, 1874. She professed happy experience of grace when quite young at Lilly Dale, and joined the church at Piney Fork Dec 9, 1888, and was transferred to Marion C. P. church in May, 1890, and then she united with the church at Chapel Hill Oct. 18th, 1903, giving her heart to Jesus in her girlhood. She honored Him all her life and was a faithful, de-

until FOERG'S REMEDY was strongly

this write to him, addressing J. S. Smith, care St. George Hotel, Evansville, Ind., voted member of the church until she joined the church beyond.

Sister Ida Adams spent her whole life in Chapel Hill neighborhood, where she was greatly beloved. She will be missed in her home, in her church, in her Sabbath school and christian endeavor. She seemed to combine the qualities of both Martha and Mary. Like Mary she sat at the feet of Jesus and listened. Like Martha she was the life of the home and also the light of the home.

She exemplified the spirit of Jesus, who said: "I came not to be ministered unto but to minister."
Her life was an unselfish one, given to ministering to others. She had a kind, gentle, bright, loving disposition. In early life she gave her heart and young life to Christ and there was never any turning back in her christian life.

Though young, we doubt not she had ripened for the Master's garner. Like Enoch she walked with God, and is not, for God has taken her.

The 3d Sunday in July sister
Ida sang in the choir at the 11 o'- clock service at Chapel Hill. The next Sunday, at that hour, she lay in her coffin and burial robes in front of the pulpit, while her sorrowing pastor preached her funeral.

Then in the quietness and peace of the holy Sabbath hour we laid her to rest in our quiet city of the dead; the hands of her weeping associates covered her grave with flowers; and so we all said farewell to Ida until the great judgment morning, when the Lord shall make up his jewels and we shall meet her around to great white throne.

Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord.

Our dear Ida is gone to rest,
With all the angels fair,
While we are here by sin oppress'd
She's free from every care.

She's singing with the angels now
All dressed in robes of white,
Of Him who died on Calvary's
brow,

So give her life and light.
We think her words to us would be,
Be faithful to the end,
That Christ may bring you up to see

Your darling and your friend.
A few more years of grief and pain,
Will end your days of woe,
Then you shall surely with me reign
Where joys immortal flow.

A FRIEND.

SAYS IT WAS A GIRL.

The New York World has a special in Paris stating that Russian revolutionaries there assert that the Czarina's child was a girl, and not a boy, and that the son of a peasant was substituted for the girl.

A peasant woman, they assert,
was smuggled into the royal palace a few days before the Czarina's accouchment was expected.

The Czarina's child, a girl, was given to the peasant woman and the peasant's child, a boy, was placed in the royal cradle.

BLOODY FIGHT.

Maysville, Ky., Aug. 21.—Tom Neal and Elsie Huron, two young men of this city, got into a fight on the Germantown pike, about a mile from this city, over a trivial matter, when Huron is alleged to have cut Neal's throat and stabbed him in the side. Huron then made his escape across the river, into Ohio. Neal's wounds are extremely dangerous and he is in a critical condition from the loss of blood, having bled several hours before medical aid reached him.

Tragedy Averted.

"Just in the nick of time" our little boy was saved," writes Mrs. W. Watkins of Pleasant City, Ohio. "Pneumonia had played sad havoc with him and a terrible cough set in besides. Doctors treated him, but he grew worse every day. At length we tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and our darling was saved. He's now sound and well." Everybody ought to know, it's the only sure cure for Coughs, Colds and all Lung diseases. Guaranteed by Woods & Orme, Druggists.
Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

A Kidnapped Boy.

Ernest Clegg, a boy, who was kidnapped by Blandman and wife in Philadelphia, last year, has been found in the Louisville reform school. He was brought there by the pair, and was taken in charge by the local authorities.
He was unable to make his identity known until a short time since.

HE HAD NO BACKBONE.

Because Howard Bryning, of Kansas City, was too fond of his his wife and acquiesced in everything she did, Mrs. Bryning has secured a divorce.

"My husband had no backbone," said Mrs. Bryning in talking over the strange reason for a divorce.
"Whenever I asked for anything I always got it without question.
There is no satisfaction in that kind of humdrum existence for me."

Mr. Bryning is a Traveling Passenger agent for the Northern Pacific with headquarters at Kansas City.

A Power For Good.

The pills that are potent in their action
and pleasant in effect are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. W. S. Philpot, of Albany, Ga., says: "During a bilious attack I took one. Small as it was it did me more good than calomel, blue mass or any other pill I ever took and at the same time the effect was pleasant. Little Early Risers are certainly an ideal pill." Sold by Woods & Orme, Druggists.

In Memoriam.

Little Iva Rhoda Baird, daughter of J. C. and Fannie Baird, was born July 4, 1902; died July 4, 1904. She was a sweet and lovely baby but God saw fit to call her unto himself. So weep not,
dear parents, little Iva awaits you on the other shore. Sweet and beautiful as the rosebud tipped with the morning dew, she was the delight of her home.

Yes, our little bright-eyed darling
Has now left us ever more;
But she's singing with the angels
On that happy shore.
